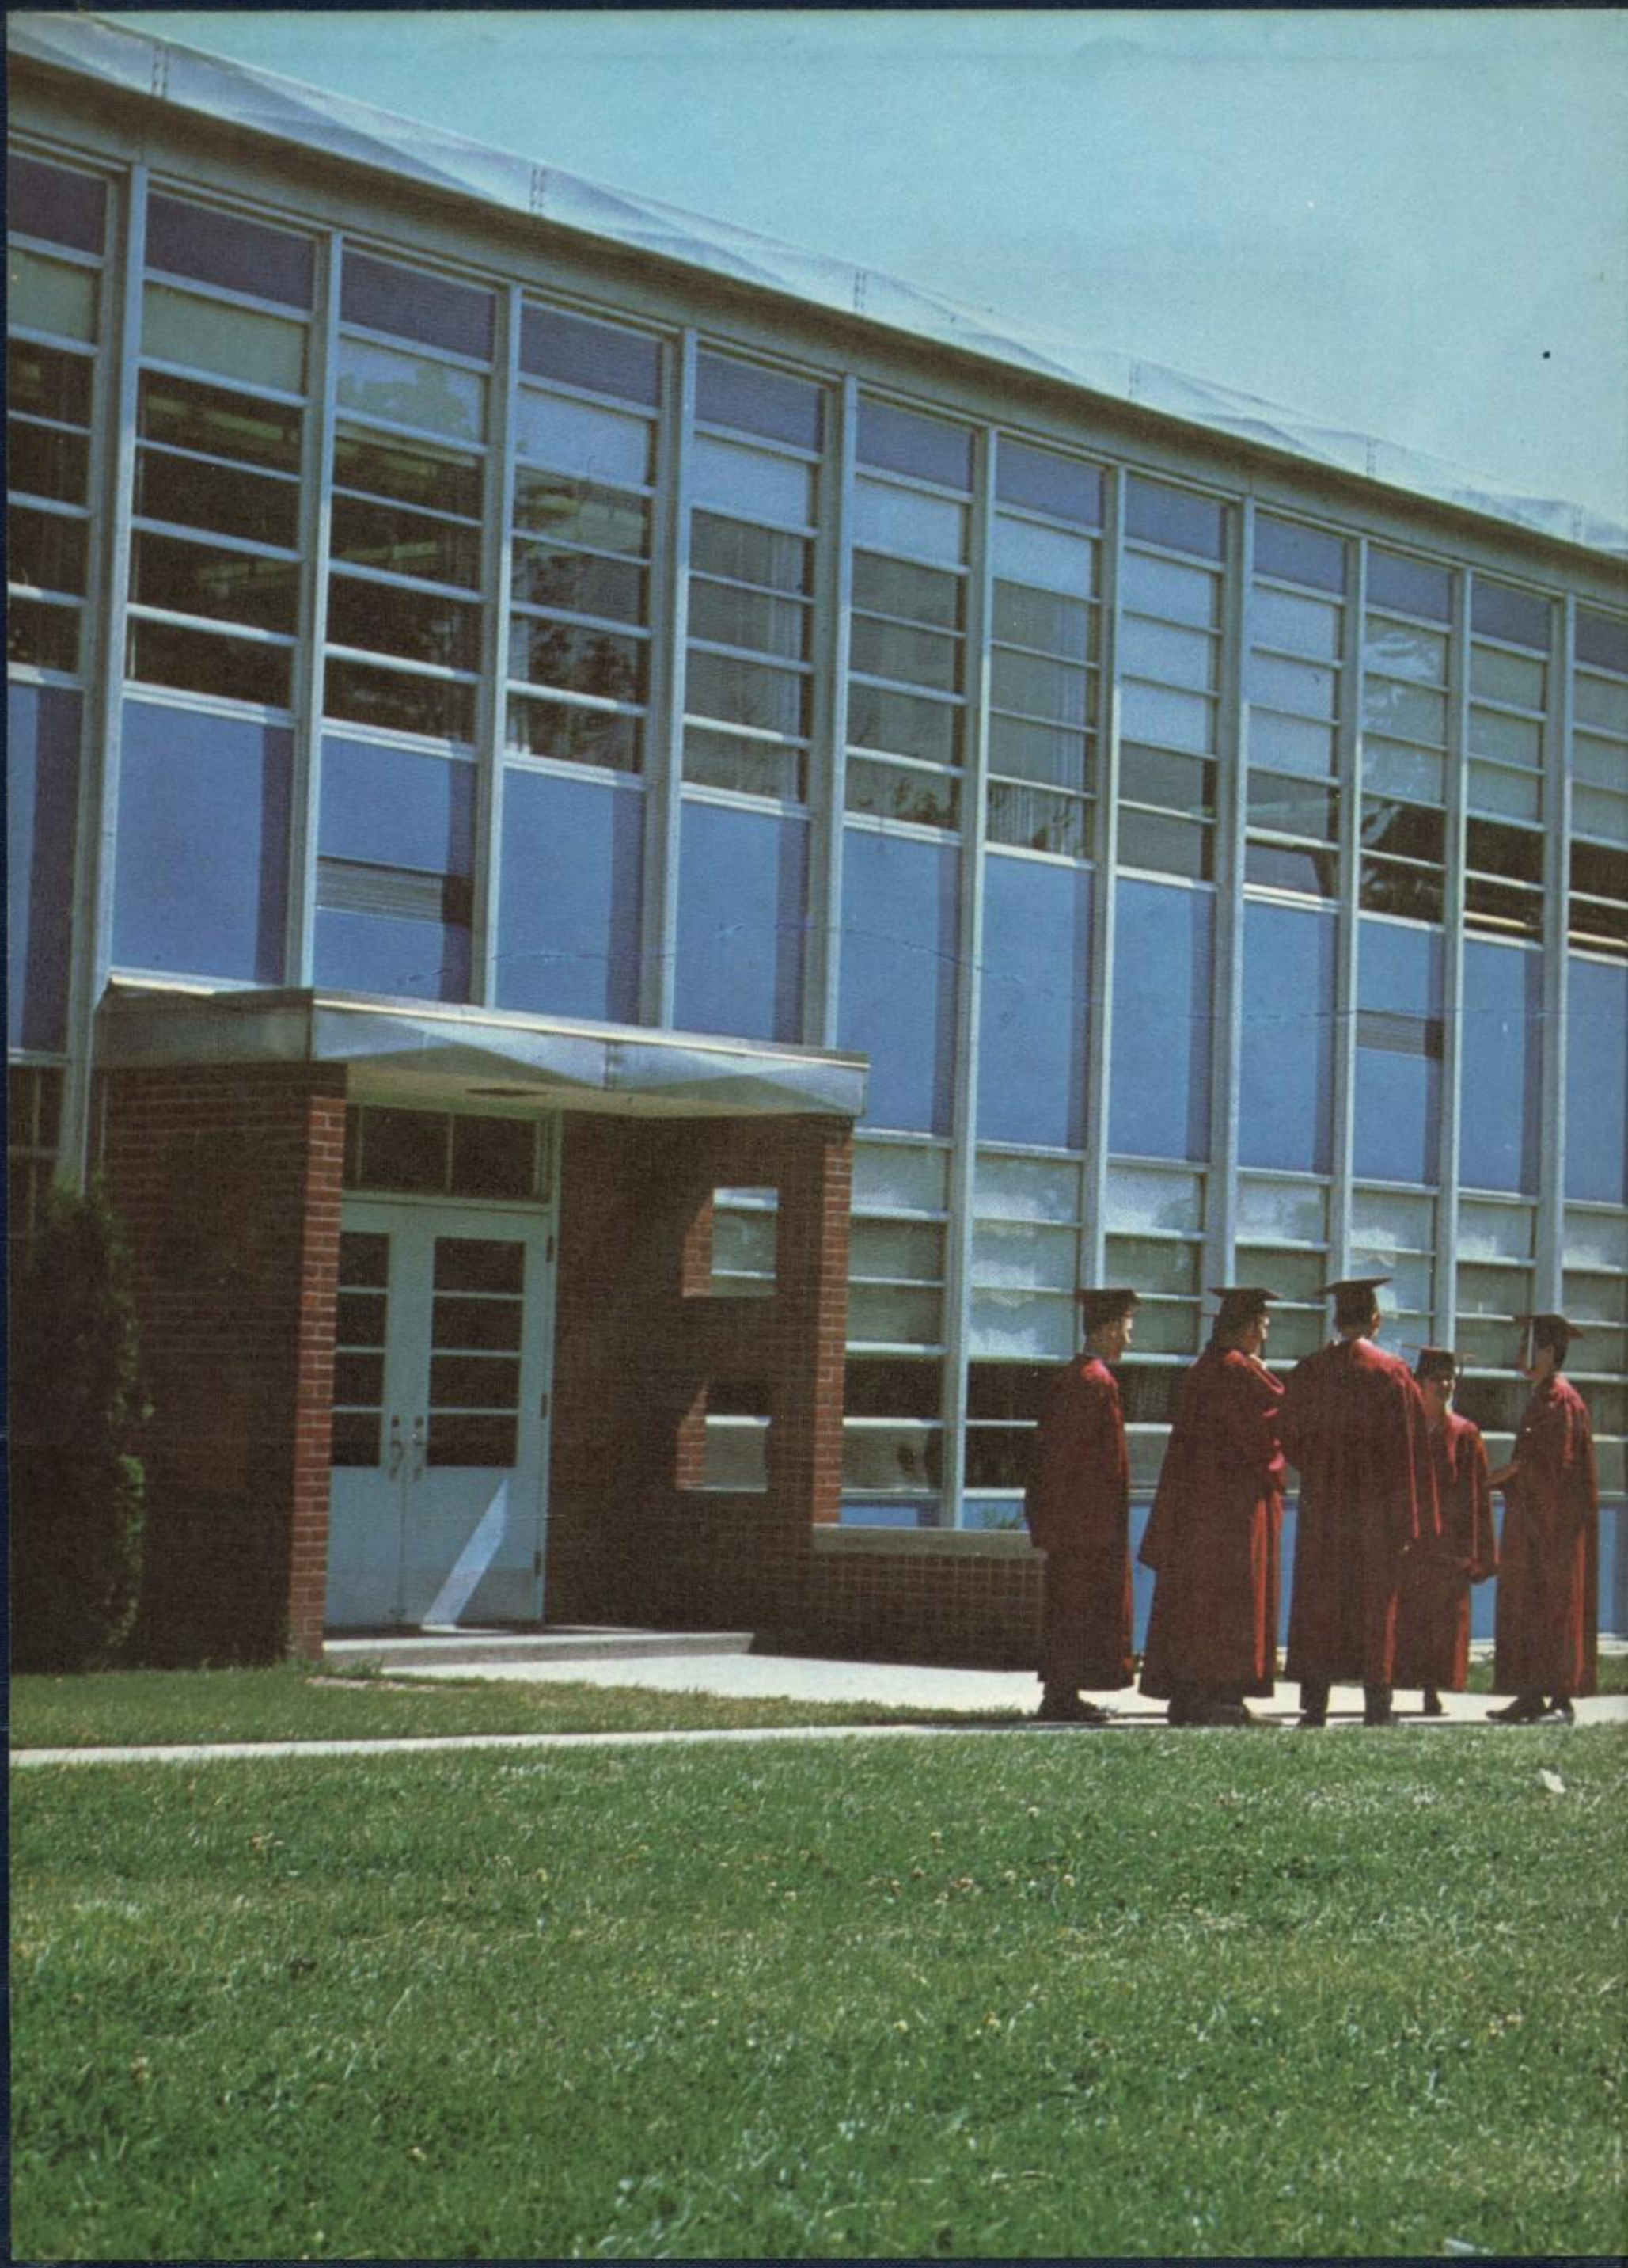
ALICE COX



Alice,

So a great kid who's lots of fun to be with. I sure hope we'll continue to be good friends far into the future. Best of luck; I know you deserve the best. Isn't it great to finally be seniors? It doesn't really seem possible but I'm glad we are. We'll always remember our great chemistry solutions won't we! - and that algebra class too! Always remember DHS and all the good times we've had!

Love ya,
Martha

Alice,

Remember all the laughs we've had in algebra class? Remember the quizzes? Those were the days. Have a great summer. Be sure to write. Always remember me.

Love ya,
Debbie

Alice, a great friend a person to be envied. Have a most wonderful summer. Hope we can have lots of classes together next year. Always remember me.

Love ya,
Debbie

D.H.S.

The bell rings, lockers fly open and doors slam, beginning another day at D.H.S.--forging another important link in the chain of our lives. We spend over half of our time here. We figure, concoct, create, and live here. We learn to work together and to co-operate with others. It is here that we learn the true meaning of responsibility. Our friends are here; wonderful memories of the past years and hard work mingle with sounds of cheerful laughter and the bustle of changing classes as we look back upon this year. What we do today, this week, this year will help determine what kind of people we are going to be. Yes, through the laughter, the tears, the work and the play, D.H.S. is truly "our link to the future."

always will be friends.
Good luck in the future.

The Chain of Events Adds Variety

Cords are a tradition for seniors Ted Volpp and Cheryl Wagner.

With a somber gaze the seniors cast a backward glance at the dying embers of their last bonfire.

New students Rick Braun, Lucia Granath and Brenda Thurnall take a coke break.

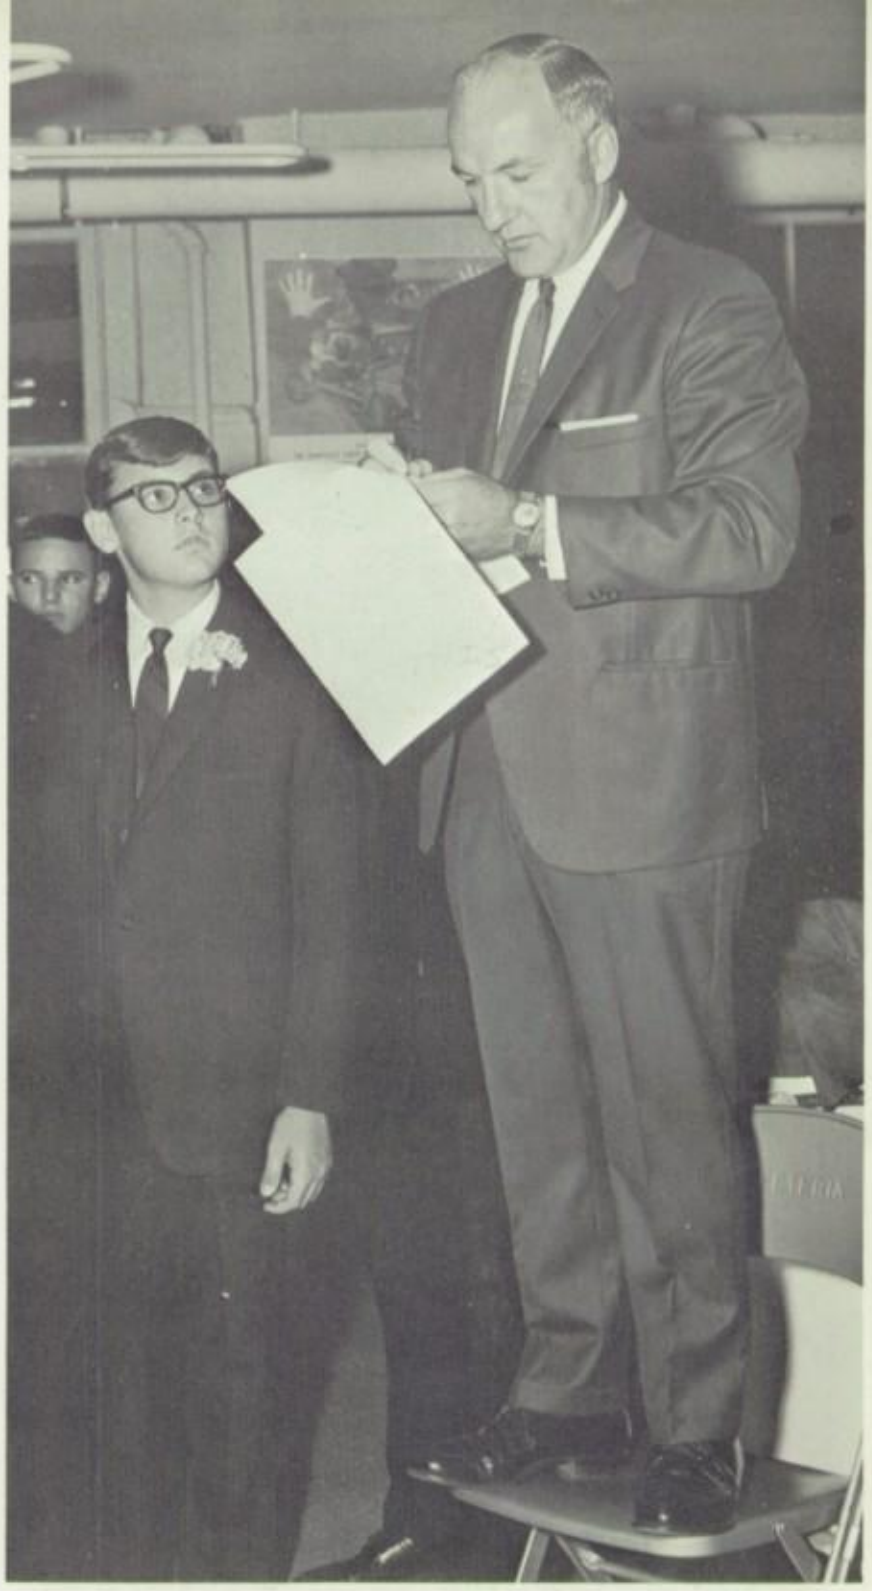
"Sweetiepie Sparks" coach of the Tri-Hi-Y Trouncers and their lovely cheerleaders.

Resting, Mark Parsons prepares to play Santa Claus for the language clubs .

to Studies

Confusion was the name of the game as players went after each other instead of the football.

With a beat on the Tom Tom, Jane Himsel generates the spirit of the crowd.



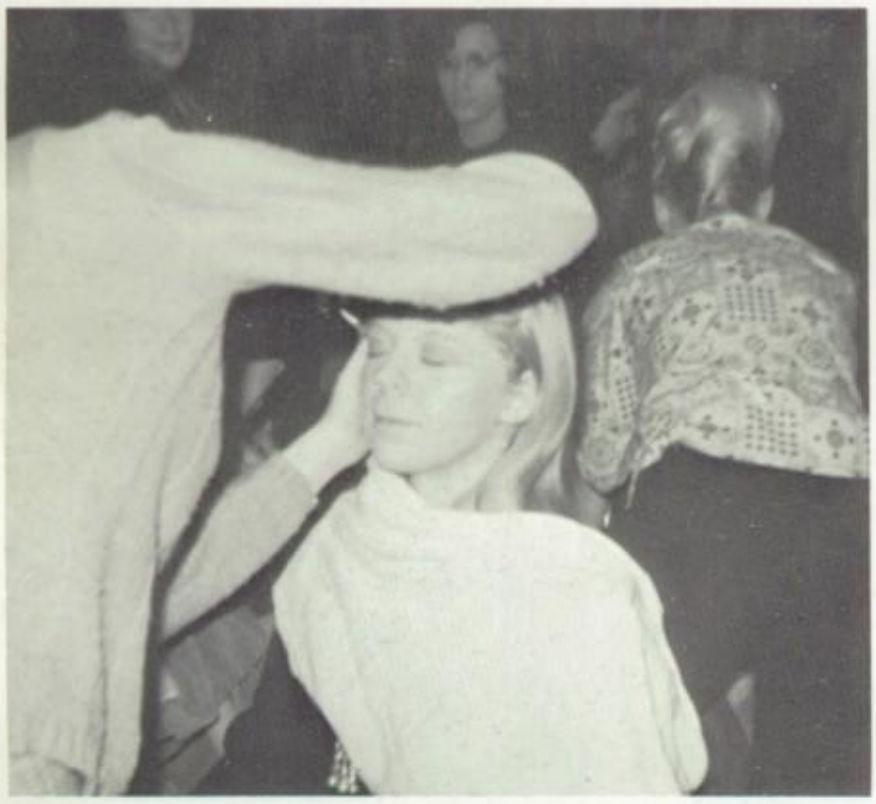
Chris Wynn is probably wondering just how high one can go in Mr. Gibb's profession.

"Did someone say smile?" inquires Mrs. Harris.

BUS DRIVERS: D. Riggs, D. York, F. Jennings, R. Disney, A. Cain, M. Woods. Second Row: V. Cope, D. Wiggiam, W. Weakley, F. Hadley, C. Smith, H. Bodily.

Warriors Linked by Memories

The white-clad boosters and the solemn mascot supported our team throughout the season.



As Candy Wellman applies make-up, Paula Archer dreams of how she will look.

CUSTODIANS: Fred Hadley, Mrs. Harper, Everitt Whitaker.

Couples danced in the enchanting atmosphere of Cupid's Fantasy.

LOST AND FOUND: four right hands!

Modeling their evening gowns are Debbie Ferguson and Jone Hodgin.

Seniors Pat Arnold and Janice York looked quite chic in their ensembles.

FHA'ers enjoyed a weiner roast complete with candied apples for their Halloween Party.

COOKS: Geraldine Hoffman, Margaret Lynch, Helen Mitchell, Chloe Morgan, Hazel Slater.

Class presidents--Jerry Bair and Eric Lawrence.

Mardi Gras Launches Social Season

Confetti, jesters, multi-colored crepe paper and cascading balloons created a teeming mood for "Mardi Gras"--The 1966 Freshman Reception. The freshmen anxiously awaited the moment when they would be introduced into the social whirl of activities. The tempo of excitement rose as they stepped into the spotlight and strolled down Bourbon Street to the lively music of the "Inspirations."

Mrs. Helbig pins a corsage on Debby Eubank as her mother reminisces.

Oklahoma!

After many hours of exhausting toil and a few unexpected but laughable incidents, the first of three performances of Oklahoma was presented by the music and speech departments.

The colorful musical presented a vivid picture of life and happiness in Oklahoma during the early 1900's and the ever-growing love and conflicts between two young lovers. The romantic, singing cowboy, Curly, was portrayed by Bill Rinderknecht with Dana Stall playing the fickle, somewhat egotistical Laurey upon whom Curly was directing his attentions.

Directing the talents of many D.H.S. students in the outstanding event of 1967 were Mrs. Mabel Pritchett, Mr. Lynn Jones, Miss Paulette Snow and Mr. John O'Brien.

Will Parker (John Mowery) gives his interpretation of an "Oklahoma Hello!"

"You could hang yerself on that rope," Curly says to Jud (Cecil Tackett).

The dream scene is acted out by Martha Wiggam.

"Look Mr. Carnes," Ali Hakim (Jerry Bair) exclaims as he and Annie (Kris Forbregd) look down the barrel of Mr. Carnes' (Jay Hodge) shotgun.

Sophomore Entries

The Pompon parties at an end, the last touches on the float, and the cars gayly festooned, generated the excitement of the 1967 Homecoming which was just beginning.

The rumble and roar of the D.H.S. band began the much awaited parade. The crowds shouted and cheered for their favorite float or candidate as the parade gradually made its way toward the park.

Following the roll of a drum and the kick off, the Warriors and Cadets began the battle in which Danville was to be victorious.

With half-time came the highlites of the parade--the moment for which everyone had been waiting. As the floats rolled onto the field, the crowd roared; and each class cheered louder than the last. The sophomore float took honors with the theme "Warrior Country, Warrior Victory." Cindy Terry, sophomore queen candidate, was crowned Homecoming queen upon which she received the traditional kiss from the football co-captain, Jack Lynch.

A dance at the Washington Street Gymnasium put a finishing touch on the festivities.

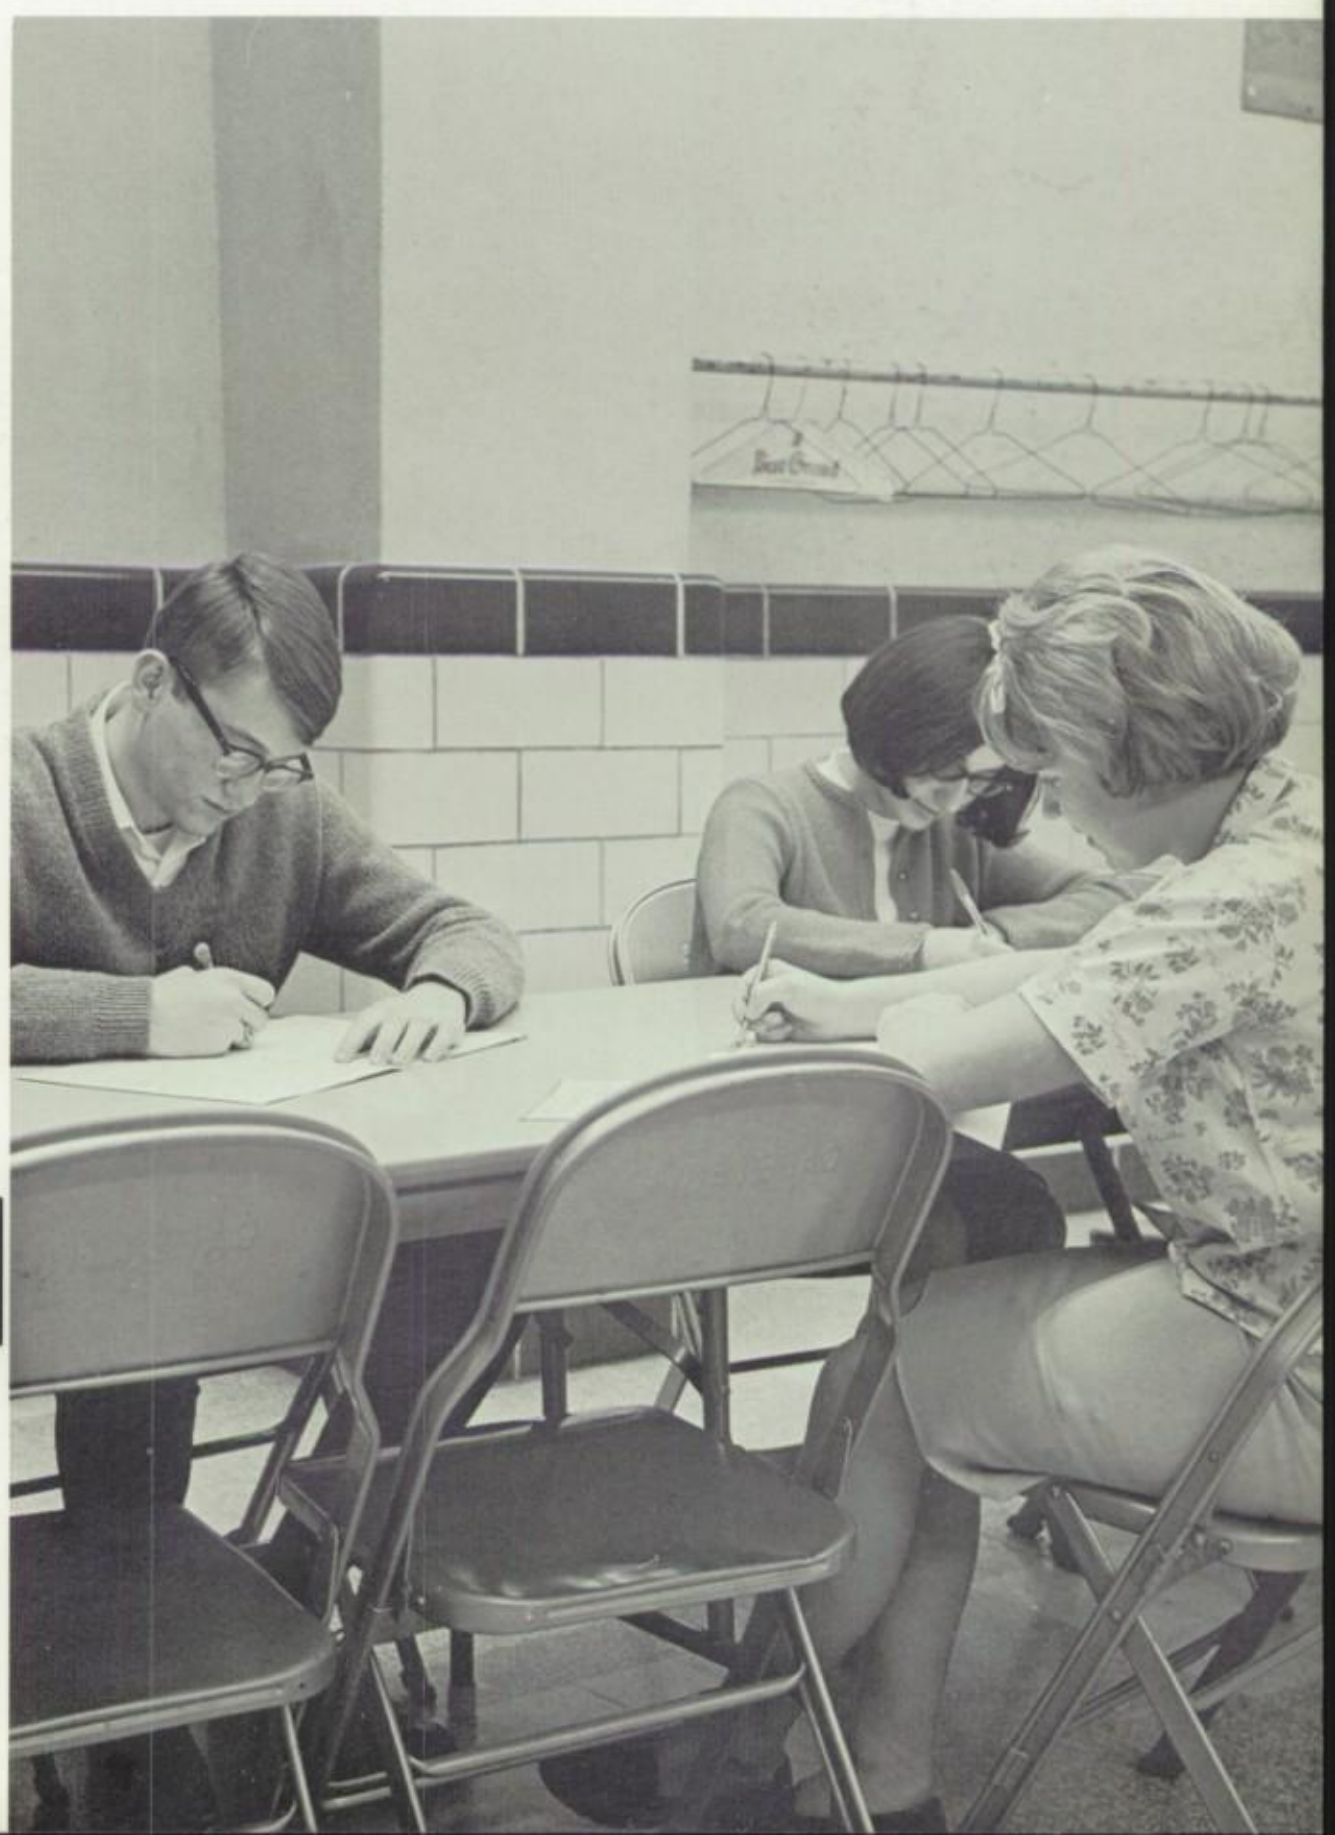
LEARNING

Do you know that the curriculum at D.H.S. includes nine areas with over sixty courses from which you may choose and is growing larger every year. The knowledge gained through the educational system here at D.H.S. will determine one of the most important parts of our lives--our careers. It is here that our minds are molded and are shaped to prepare us for the inevitable task of finding a job. It is here that we learn the basic fundamentals that we will use throughout our lives. We are introduced to our first formal education and lay the groundwork for college here. Thus through learning, D.H.S. is a steppingstone to our ultimate goal of success.

Our Most Important Link



ACADEMICS

Vocational Education

VIVIAN GILHAM taught typing I, English 10, journalism, and sponsored Quill & Scroll.

ESTHER PORTER. Typing to music added variety to her typing II class.

By using the calculating machine, Cheryl Wagner improves her business skills.

FERN MC ELWAIN motivates student interest in business by teaching bookkeeping I, shorthand II, and general business.

More and more students enter the business field after graduation, and D.H.S. is no exception.

As you pass through the halls, you hear the click of the typewriters, the dictation of shorthand, and the sound of adding machines and calculators. All of these are a link in the world of the business-bound student.

Taking dictation at the board helps Sandy Hamblem build speed.

Beginning typists, Dick Banks and Max Retherford, are learning the styles of business letters.

-- a World of Skills

MARY HELBIG aroused interest in her home economics and family living classes, and also acted as senior class sponsor.

PAT SELSOR enjoyed teaching home economics, Shorthand I and was very helpful in sponsoring FHA.

During the home nursing course, Linda York demonstrated child care.

Preparing a specialty for home economic class, are Bobejean Mayer and Sheryl Walls.

At D.H.S., a variety of subjects aid the beginning homemaker in planning for the future. Freshman girls learned the basic techniques in sewing, cooking, and meal planning. The sophomores practiced the necessary skills of home nursing along with added cooking and sewing projects. Studs, plates, window wells, and girders became quite familiar to the juniors. The senior girls added to their knowledge of the kitchen by learning how to cook and prepare organ meats and other delicacies.

Pinning a pattern on grain and making it grain perfect, Mona Preece and Jennifer Moore learn one of the basic fundamentals in home economics.

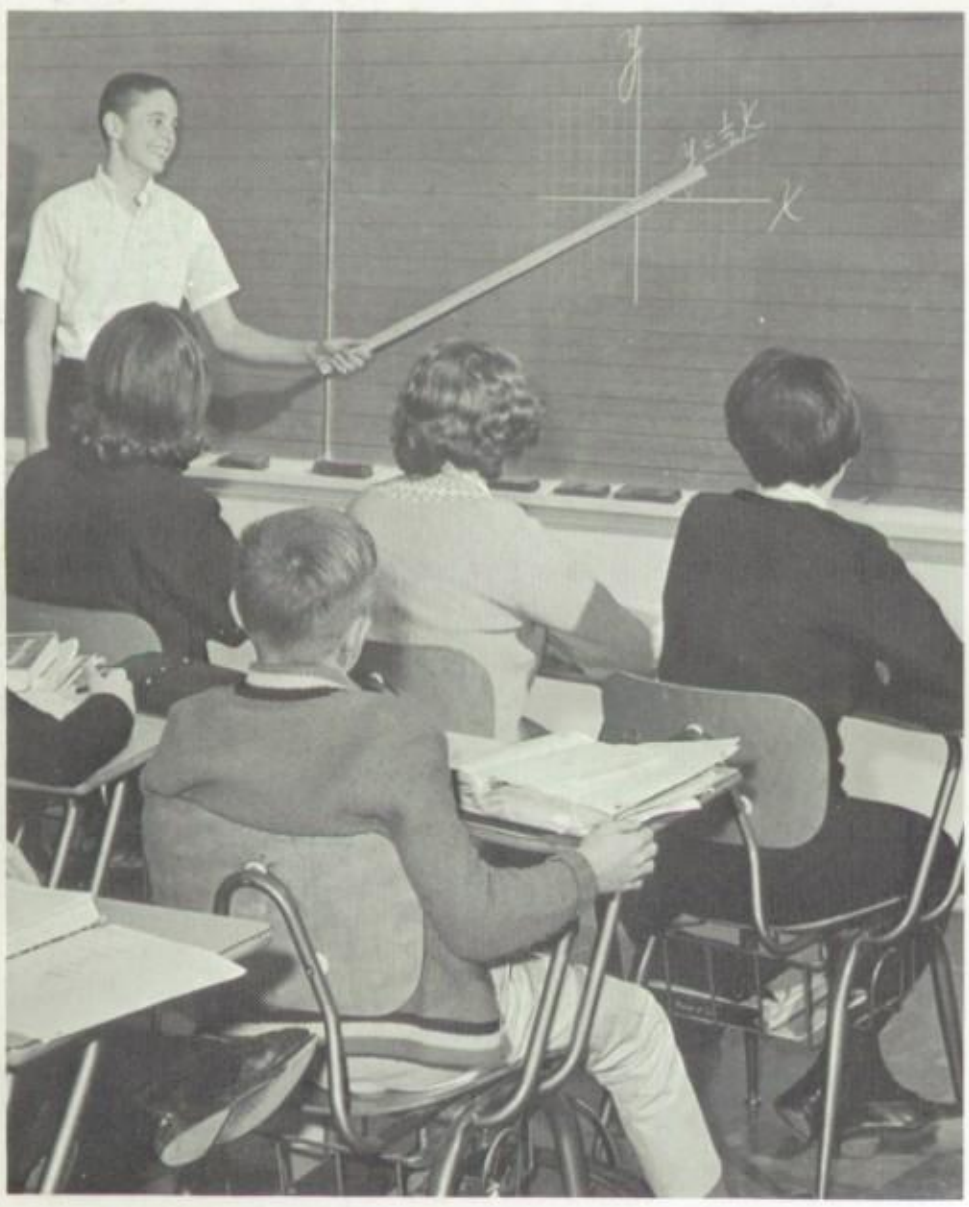
The Unknown Challenges Math and Geometry and trigonometry are taught by SAM MOREHEAD. Now what was that about the Law of Sines?

"What happened?" exclaimed Alan Walls. "Only the weeds came up!"



These students learn all about equations--using x and y in algebra I.

Algebra I and Modern Math, a relatively new course at D.H.S., are taught by ROSEMARY HELTON.

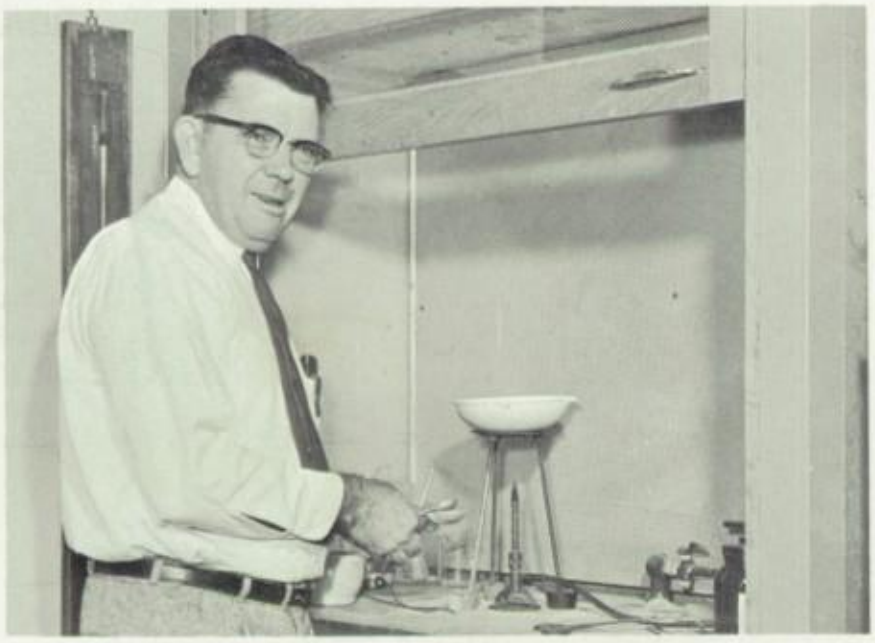
Science Students in the Space Age

With the age of missiles and satellites, science and mathematics are becoming more and more important in everyday life.

Dr. Wiles Keller, a Purdue professor informed several of the math classes of new formulas for square and cube roots and also discussed linear programing, which deals with the objectives of business.

The sound of clinking beakers and the aroma of sulfur drifted down the hall as eager chemists brewed their potions.

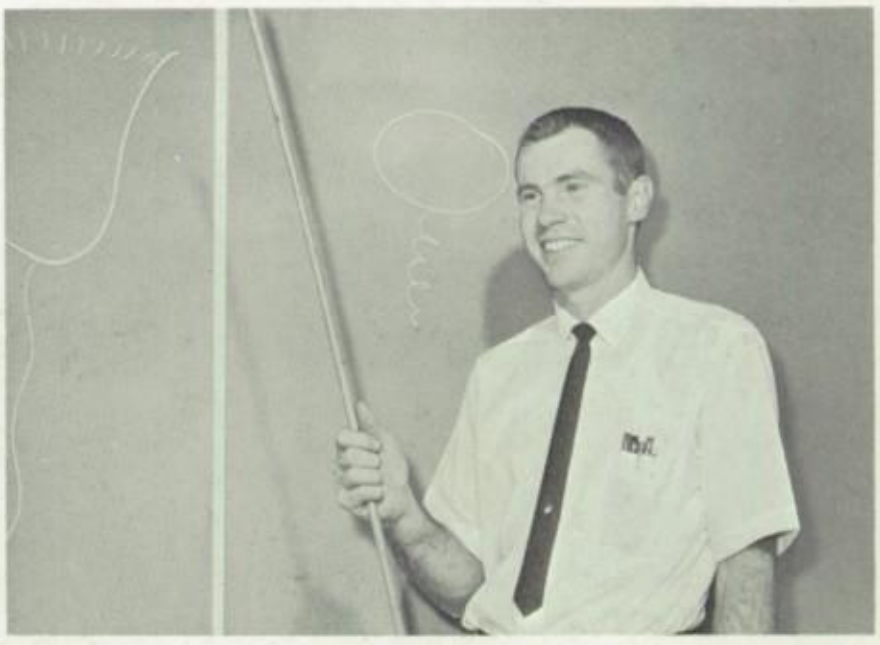
Biology, chemistry and physics were offered in the science department this year. Freshmen studied cellular structure of living organisms and life processes, while upperclassmen broadened their general knowledge of science and the world about them.



While experimenting in the lab, RUSSELL KIRTS shows his students some important factors in physics and chemistry.

While watching Becky Deeb, Martha McNeff learns how to prepare for an experiment.

Along with signing passes and sponsoring the junior class ED ETIENNE also teaches physical science.



In addition to teaching biology to the freshman class, ROBERT ETIENNE coaches the varsity basketball team.

Physical Agility and Manual Dexterity Set Goals

Coordination and skill are needed for timed races.

Boys chose the field of shop work they liked best from a curriculum of basic industrial art, metals, graphic arts, carpentry, advanced drawing, and basic electricity. Projects ranged from book ends to slot-car race tracks. Boys in the printing shop contributed pamphlets, folders, tickets, and programs needed for the school activities. The drawing classes gained knowledge in house plans and other architectural skills.

Physical education classes offer practice in good sportsmanship and teamwork, while helping build coordination.

Deck tennis is a favorite activity of the frosh gym class.

For their semester projects, Steve Rinehart and Steve Yeley draft machine parts.

HARRY BRADLEY keeps the boys in physical education, in top condition.

Points for neat gym suits are given by LOUISE DOLLENS, girls physical education instructor.

DAVID JONES checks plans drawn by pupils in his mechanical drawing class.

Variety in Foreign Languages

With jet-age transportation, distances between countries are dwindling. Thus, the demand for the knowledge of foreign languages is greater; because through this knowledge we may, in some small way, help to attain world understanding and peace.

Teaching Latin I and II and English 10 keeps LOIS SCHROER on her toes.

WANDA STANLEY instills in her students the history of Spain and other countries.

Aside from her regular teaching duties, JULIA HARRIS guides French Club activities.

How Latin is used everyday is the theme first year students chose for their display.

Translating stories holds the attention of Spanish students'.

Pronunciation is stressed as an important phase in learning French.

D.H.S. Adds Reading Lab to

The freshman class is having an oral review for their semester exam.

GERALDENE HUFFMAN. Reports about other countries helped to add enthusiasm to the ninth grade classes.

CARLA NAANES' zest in teaching English is exemplified by her vivid class discussions.

Could this panel be discussing Bob Goodson's lesson in up-side-down literature?

In speech class Cecil Tackett tries his skill at persusasive speaking.

PAULETTE SNOW enjoys discussing short stories with her English 10 classes. She also delights in teaching speech I.

Improve Study Skills

MABLE PRITCHETT, head of the English Department, teaches College Prep English, speech II, and reading. Grading papers, sponsoring clubs, and directing plays keep her very busy.

To broaden the department of language arts a reading laboratory was initiated, and remedial and developmental reading classes were added to the curriculum. It was recognized that reading instruction continued at the secondary level was not only desirable, but also essential for the full development program. Improvements in rate and comprehension, vocabulary, spelling, and study skills, were available to students with reading difficulties.

The shadowscopes will increase the reading speed of Jerry Stephens and Jim Thomas.

BARBARA MARTIN demonstrates the suzett, which will provide enrichment for the remedial reading program.

Fine Arts

Playing sousaphone has its compensations. At least you can ride in a convertible. Jim Hughes and Ron Lawyer are thinking.

LYNN JONES directed band, freshman chorus, and robed choir. His vivid, original themes for concerts and half-time shows delighted the eyes and ears of the audiences.

With a proud, sure step, Drum Major, John Mowery, competently leads the band in a parade.

The seniors had a feeling of nostalgia when "Pomp and Circumstance" was played. They recalled the long hours of hard work and the rewards they received from being a part of Marching and Concert Bands.

The lively singing of the vocal groups seemed to capture the Yule spirit at the Christmas Festival.

Entering the art show sponsored by Tri Kappa was the outstanding event of the year for the participants.

With their flashy half-time shows the marching Warriors added spirit and sparkle to the football and basketball games.

Build Harmony Through Beauty

JOAN KISNER taught English and Art and sponsored the Sophomore class. She placed her paintings in the office for the enjoyment of everyone.

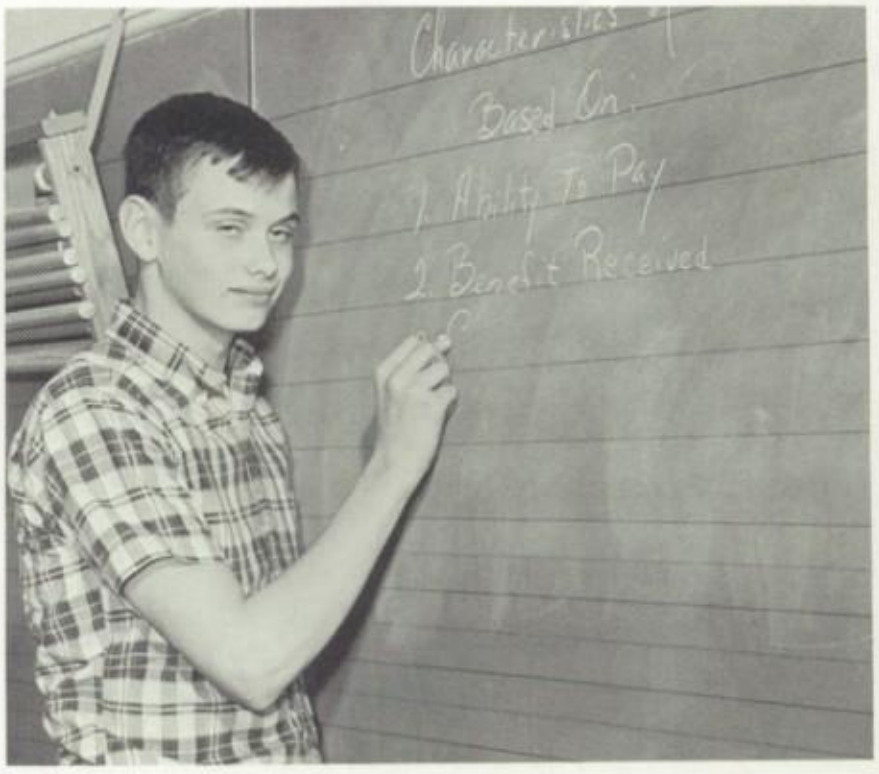
Working intently, Steve Cox added the finishing touches to a Christmas figurine.

Voices blending in perfect harmony are a tradition with Robed Choir.

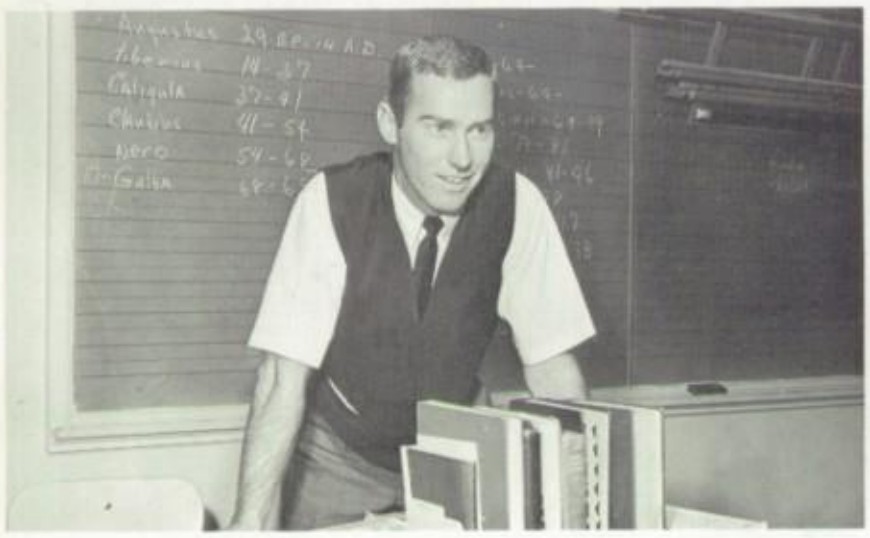
Striving for excellence, the Freshmen practice for the Christmas Concert.

Social Studies -- the Democratic Process

WENDELL SCUDDER, Athletic director, always finds time to brighten up the student's day with his wit.



Listing the characteristics of a fair tax, is James Sterling.



RICHARD "Dick" BURROWS keeps the students on their toes by glorifing pop quizes as he teaches U. S. and World History. He co-sponsors the Sophomore class.

The Social Studies Department covers a variety of subjects from citizenship to U. S. History. Students are shown the heart inside the government as they study man, his history, and his everchanging environment. They subject themselves into a world where they are taken on a guided tour of the remote past of the cave man's world to today's modern atomic, space age.

RICHARD SPARKS puts the swing into Government with informal discussions of current events, and studying the voting process. He is assistant baseball coach.

Studying the results of the congressional elections gave the seniors valuable insight into the makeup of the government.

For top score in Home Economics 12, Jeri Clark was the recipient of the 1967 Betty Crocker Homemaker Award.

A silver medal for second place in the annual Bookkeeping contest was won by Charlie Brock.

Selected as Good Citizen by the Daughters of the American Revolution, Lois Doub represented D.H.S. in the County Contest.

STATERS AND ALTERNATES: L. Doub, J. Jenner, C. Terrill, L. Bell, R. Martin, J. Jones, M. Carter, D. Weaver.

AWARDS

The Tri-Kappa Amateur Art Show Awards, student division, were presented to: Susie Brock, Merit; Gary Huggler, Third; Sharon Cantrell, First; Joe Fish, Third; Darlene Flynn, First Place.

SPORTSMANSHIP -- Our Link

Sports, too, are an important link to the goals we have set before us. Herein, lies the ideals of good sportsmanship, the responsibility of supporting your team, cooperation with teammates, and the knowledge gained through triumph as well as defeat. It is through this sportsmanship that we are conditioned to overcome the trials that lay ahead. The unceasing work and efforts put forth to make the team, today, inspires the initiative to achieve the goals of tomorrow.

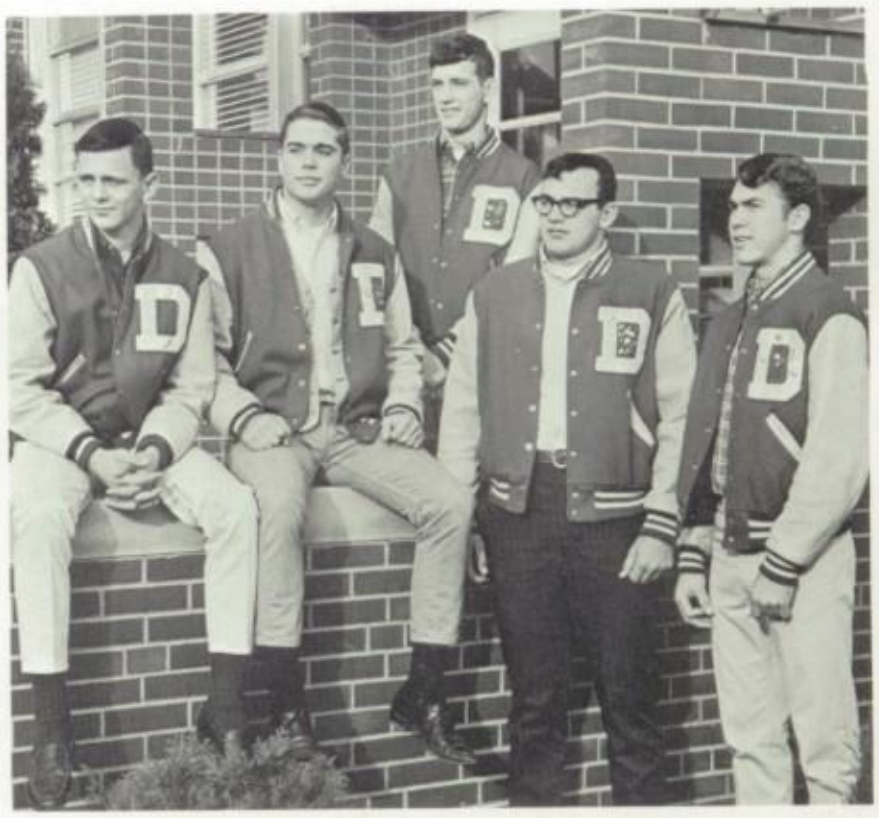
Five Senior Grid

The Warriors were led through a rough season by Coaches Burrows and Morehead. Although they suffered a losing season, the Warrior football squad gained much in experience and learned the fundamentals of the sport. Coach Burrows experimented with several different combinations during the season, enabling many underclassmen to see action. With each game, the team improved; and despite a rugged schedule, the morale remained high.

The Warriors featured a strong defense, but sometimes lacked the necessary offensive punch. The strongest attack was against the homecoming rival, Cascade, which ended in a victory, 32 to 0. Danville rounded out its grid season with a 2-6-2 record.

The five senior gridmen, who were chosen for the All-Conference team by eight Conference coaches, prompted the enthusiasm.



Mike Hazelwood, Carter Siddons, Jack Lynch, Gerald McGown, and Phil Lofton were Danville's representatives on the Mid-State All-Conference Football Team.

Junior Bill Herman prepares to dash to a victory for the track team.

Cross Country is in its third season at D.H.S. This year the team was sparked by Senior Bill Rinderknecht who placed first in five out of six meets. His outstanding performance enabled him to place seventh in the conference meet.

Scoring in cross country is different from any other high school sport. The team with the lowest total points wins the meet. The points are accumulated by the first five to finish on one team.

The course for cross country is like a two mile obstacle course through woods and over hills. It takes more endurance to run cross country than it does to run two miles around the track.

Sailing over hurdles in track is a specialty of Mike Carter and Jerry Willis.

Danville High's track team finished strong after a somewhat mediocre start. The squad improved with each meet, and underclassmen showed great promise in the years to come.

Although they lacked somewhat in the field events they made up for this in the long distance events and the dashes.

Encouraged by Mr. Etienne, Joe Simpson puts forth a final burst of energy to help win a victory.

SERVICE -- Our Link to

Service is our link to society! Through the organizations here at D.H.S. we attain the qualities necessary to give good service; and thus, we are better prepared to meet the changes around us. The organizations here have much to offer us in developing the values we will need to reach the top. It is through these organizations that we gain the true meaning of responsibility, we learn to cooperate with others, and we learn to iron out many of the difficulties that we must all face as leaders and followers. We develop initiative and resourcefulness. We develop the ability to organize and to follow through. We gain the all-pervading and persistent enthusiasm of the leader, and we attack tasks with spirit. These organizations are a part of our daily life for hardly a day goes by that we are not working on a project sponsored by the organization to which we belong, and it is said that there are few satisfactions in life which equal the satisfaction one derives from his daily work.

A majorette's role is not an easy one. She spends many hours in practice and preparation for the task of presenting the glamorous routines. She not only demonstrates her special ability as a twirler in the half-time shows, but in contests, too. Senior Candy Wellman, finalist in the Miss Indiana Baton Twirling Beauty Pageant, was head majorette.

BAND COUNCIL: Peggy Fortner, Secretary; Cindy Kite, Lieutenant of Woodwinds; Candy Wellman, Head Majorette; Margie Stamper, Lieutenant of Brass. Second Row: Randy King, John Mowery, Drum Major; Bob Goodson, Head Drummer; Danny Weaver, President.

Band Council represented the various sections of the band during meetings, and was the ruling body of the bands, choirs, and majorettes. It organized and planned the Senior Concert and the annual pancake supper.

"Taste of Honey" by the Tijuana Brass was the theme song for the Dance Band which played for the Republican Bar-B-Q, Christmas Dance at Cascade, and Lincoln Day Dinner. The music, which featured brass, created a mood "South of the Border" and added a toe-tapping finale to a year of new sounds.

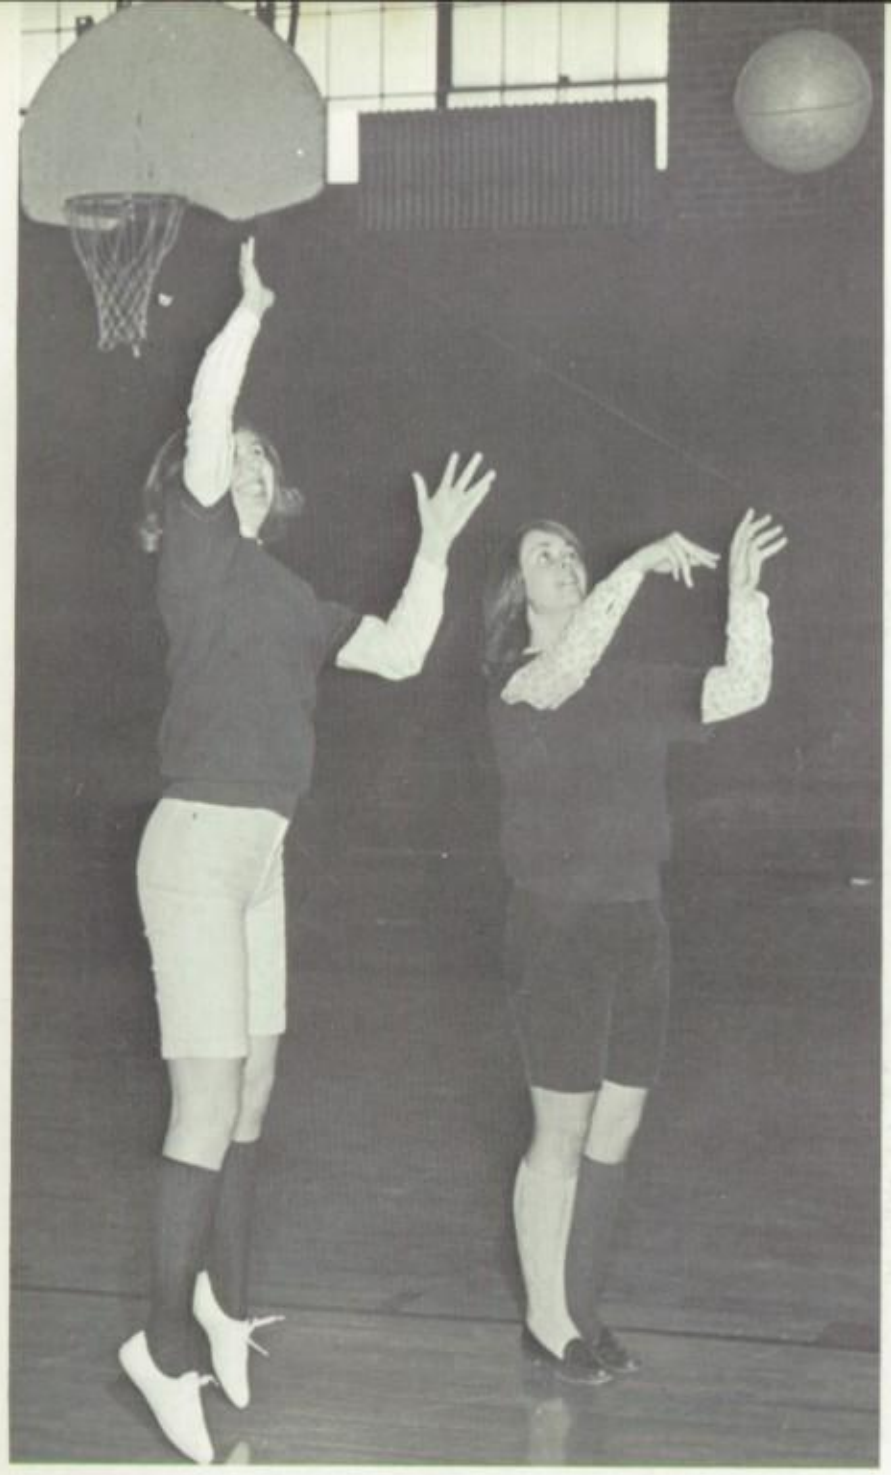
The library--a world of fantasy, mystery and fact--is a part of each student's life at D.H.S. The library contains numerous books, periodicals, and magazines that can help make assignments fun and easy. It also provides a place where busy students can find a moment of relief from a hard day, research materials, and other students can find a "special" friend.

Boy, this can be work! muses Kathy Crews.

While Ann Hoge shows Kathy Lehr the "stacks," she selects a magazine for research.

Winter's Magic Puts

Several projects were completed this year by the Tri-Hi-Y club who collected canned goods for a needy family, gave Christmas gifts to the children at Opportunity Cottage, and collected for the Heart Fund. The club also sold candy to make contributions to the Student Exchange Fund, to the World Service Fund, and to finance the Christmas Dance.



Two members of the Tri-Hi-Y trouncers get in a little practice before "taking on" the Stupendous 13 of the Hi-Y.

New member Darlyn Hoffman helps Sandy Connelly put on her Tri-Hi-Y pin.

Spotlight on Christmas

COURT: Mike Carter, Sharon Jarrett, Jonathon Smith, Connie Wright, Dan Weaver, Queen Theresa Disney, Jack Lynch, Regina Olschewski, Carter Siddons, Debbie Goodwin, Jerry Bair.

Beaming radiantly our Snow Queen, Theresa Disney.

A reindeer-drawn sleigh, Christmas trees sparkling with snow created a festive setting for "Winter's Magic." The glittering of green lights added a special touch for couples dancing to gay holiday tunes. The evening was brightened by the crowning of the Snow Queen.

Punch and cookies were served by girls in the eighth grade.

Pow Wow, Tom Tom Reflect

The Pow Wow strives to produce a paper which represents the school as a whole--the ideals, opinions, and accomplishments. Page editors and reporters complete assignments and gather news from their "beats" to furnish scoop on upcoming events, review school activities, latest fads, student academic accomplishments, and our standings in the world of sports. Dummying, stenciling and mimeographing are all important parts of the weekly ritual of putting out the Pow Wow. In the last-minute rush on Friday the final story is stenciled and the last headline is drawn. Before the last copy is handed out to the subscribers, news is already being gathered for the next Pow Wow.

An engraved plaque was presented to Mrs. Gilham by Ray Martin to show the staff's appreciation of her guidance.

With a sigh of relief co-editors Jean Alex and Jackie Dellinger package the final layouts for the mail.

Facing the endless problems of writing copy and headlines, cropping pictures and making layouts, the Tom Tom staff gained valuable experience. Working many long hours, the staff has tried to capture the many memorable moments at D.H.S. in pictures and words.

QUILL AND SCROLL

Quill & Scroll was organized for the purpose of encouraging and rewarding individual achievements in the journalistic field. In addition to meeting the national qualifications for membership, pupils were required to write a letter of application.

Although a vast gulf of time lies between the ancient Romans and modern-day Americans, members of Latin Club appreciate the rich heritage the Romans have left the world. Through Latin, the English language has been enriched with vivid words alive with clarity and brilliance. The Latin Club planned the annual Roman Banquet and a bake sale.

From Castilian Spain to the snow-capped Andes the Spanish language is spoken by millions of people. In a world constantly being drawn closer together by faster means of transportation and communication, members of Spanish Club recognize the value of understanding the culture and language of their southern neighbors. This was achieved through reports and interesting film strips.

Students, who struggle to make the upper third of their class and to maintain this status, were rewarded by becoming an eligible candidate for Honor Society. They were selected by the faculty on the basis of character, leadership, scholarship, and service. New members were inducted at a moving candlelight ceremony, with The Reverend Bryan Nelson as guest speaker.

Many boys gained recognition by participating in sports at D.H.S. Their highest goal was to earn a varsity letter or jacket, which entitles them to membership in the Lettermen's Club. Each member projects sportsmanship to fellow classmates through his high ideals.

The Tri-Hi-Y Trouncers were boosted by "Sweetie Pie Sparks" and the Tri-Hi-Y Cheerleaders, Steve Rinehart, Mike Carter, Steve Gibbs, Tim Clark, and Carter Siddons, only to fall to defeat.

A busy cheerleader takes time out from a stimulating game to pose for the camera.

The Hi-Y Stupendous 13 defeated the Tri-Hi-Y Trouncers by one point in a neck and neck battle with an ending score of 28-27. Entertainment for this exciting game was provided by the Lynn Jones Band and the Halftime Honeys. Hi-Y members depict high standards by setting good examples throughout the home, school, and community. Selling license plates and collecting food for Christmas baskets were other projects of the year for the Club.

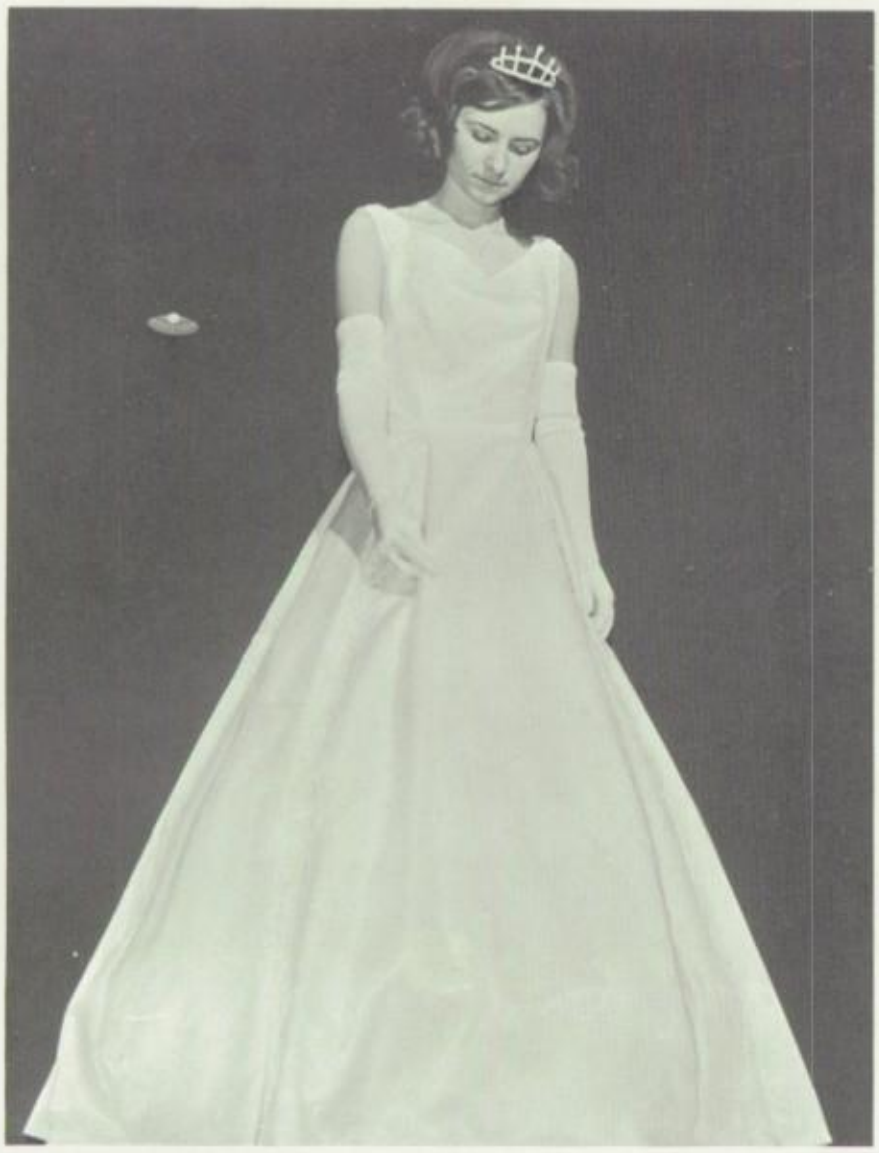
With determination student council members, Dennis Siddons and Jim Rigsby are straining to erect the "marble pillars" while decorating for the Prom.

Distributing ballots to Mrs. Pritchett's class for election of Senior Prom king and queen, Harold Brown and Ann Guthrie gained experience in club activities.

The southern mansion was bathed in moonlight as the hum of voices and music mingled with the throbbing sounds of a summer night. A velvet breeze gently stirred the draping willow trees and wafted the scent of honeysuckle and magnolia blossoms across the rolling lawn. With the theme "An Evening in Tara", the May Prom magically spun the clock back to a lawn party of the nineteenth century during the gay, pre-Civil War Days.

Nineteenth Century Setting for Prom



Student Council sets the academic, as well as the social pace at D.H.S. In the fall, the Council aided the guidance department in presenting a conference on higher education, which was received with great success. It provided an opportunity for each student to hear representatives from colleges, business colleges, and technical schools from all parts of the State. Expressing their gratitude for cooperation and advice, the Council members sponsored a tea honoring the faculty at the end of the year.

With a wistful gaze into the past, Theresa traces the thread in her dress, remembering the events interwoven through her life at D.H.S.

KING'S COURT: Mike Carter, Mike Hazelwood, Jerry Bair, Mark Chapman, King Jack Lynch, Kenny Cramer, Bill Rinderknecht, Carter Siddons, Pete Guerraro.

On Stage Everyone

"Act well your part; there all the honor lies." This is a familiar phrase to members of National Thespian Society, the nucleus of Speech Club. Thespian is derived from Thespis, who the Greeks presumed as the "Father of Drama." He is credited with first introducing dialogue and is claimed to be the first actor dramatist. Participating in musicals and plays and attending various contests throughout the year enabled pupils to earn the necessary ten points to become Thespians.

Somewhat reluctantly Danny Weaver lets Jill Jenner and Donarene Behymer practice the art of applying stage make-up.

Receiving ribbons in the Speech contest at Ben Davis were Illa Bowman, 5th; Sharon Cantrell, 4th in poetry; Sandy Pritchett, 3rd in oratorical; Jill Jenner, 2nd in radio, and Dan Weaver, 1st in humorous. Placing first in at least one round were Ray Martin, oratorical; Freda Honey, humorous; Jerry Bair, dramatic; Janet Hodge, poetry; Steve Miller, radio; and Cheryl Pritchett, humorous.

Speech Club Has Active Year

Revolving around Thespian Troup 2246, Speech Club members also entered solo and debate contests and co-operated in the production and acting of "Oklahoma" and "Curious Savage."

Reading from a scene in "The Curious Savage," Steve Hantzis, Sandy Pritchett, and Donarene Behymer rehearse their lines.

After lighting the dramatics candle, Cheryl Pritchett and Susie Sturgeon initiate Joan Kropp into National Thespian Society.

Cupid's Fantasy Enhances Social

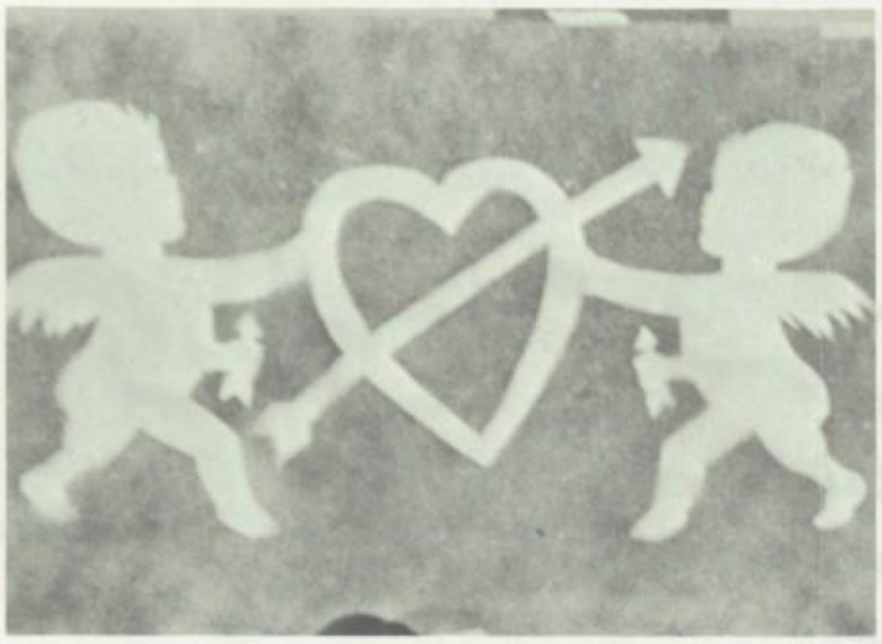
Court for Sweetheart Dance: Carter Siddons, Linda Hayden, Bill Rinderknecht, Karin Caswell, Candy Wellman, Mike Carter, Theresa Disney, Jack Lynch, Sandy Lynch, Mark Chapman.

A look at Becci Mayer and Jerry Willis proves that Cupid was at work.

The evening was climaxed with Jill Wallace crowning Mike Carter as king of all young hearts.

Sparkling punch, and cupcakes decorated with hearts were served by Jody McCammack, Marilyn Rutledge and Rita Behymer.

Calendar Planned by FHA



A mural of cupids and hearts transformed the familiar surroundings into a Cupid's Fantasy.

FHA'ers decorated Christmas trees for the county hospital as a community project.

The Danville Chapter of FHA is a member of the Southwest District in Indiana. Each Chapter must complete three experiences under each project to be an honor chapter. The objective this year for our district was to participate actively in projects for family, community, and world improvement. Caroling around the town, preparing health kits for the children in Viet Nam, and babysitting for the PTA meetings were just a few of the projects completed for the district projects of "Your Neighbors Near and Far" and "Citizenship Challenges You."

Streamers of red, white and pink decked the rooms and enhanced the capitivating atmosphere of Cupid's Fantasy. Enchanted couples drifted through the mythical wonderland of the altered surroundings as the music of the "Younger Set" penetrated the air.

This is the era of the drummer, the guitarist and, of course, the nation-wide rage of mini skirts. With this age of ever-changing fads and fancies, we have developed unique individualisms in our outward appearance. This is sometimes mistaken for our true personality, but the underlying factor to personality is character. D.H.S. is our link to this all important aspect of our personality. It is here that we develop our manners, our scholarship, our sense of responsibility, our ability to cooperate with those around us, and thus our character. We begin to create a reputation for ourselves here in high school which will undoubtedly follow us throughout our lives.

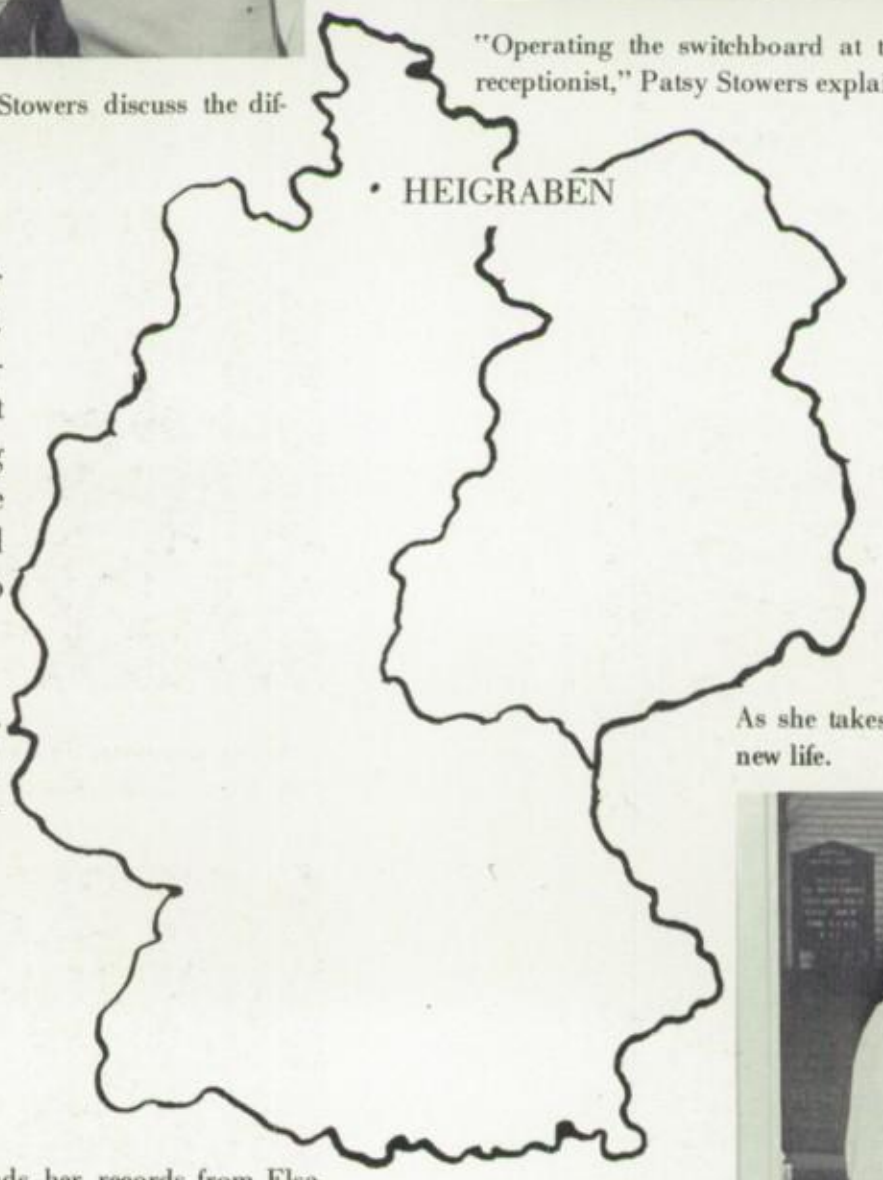
REGINA -- A Student from Germany

While eating lunch, Regina and Patsy Stowers discuss the differences in German and American cuisine.

"Operating the switchboard at the hospital is one of the duties of a receptionist," Patsy Stowers explains to Regina.



From Northern Germany, comes our exchange student Regina Olschewski. Reggie has found her "new life" exciting and very different from that of Germany's. Although swimming and reading were enjoyed by Reggie in both countries, our football and basketball games were entirely new to her.

Everyone at D.H.S. wishes you, Regina, success in your future plans and hope that you will be able to return soon.

As she takes a step into D.H.S., Regina begins a new life.

As Mr. Gibbs welcomes Regina, she hands her records from Elsa-Brandstiam-Schule High School to him.

Colorful balloons descending from above prepared the gay atmosphere for the dancers at "Mardi Gras."

Four Golden Years

The bell rings, feet shuffle, and the doors open, as we enter the world of the D.H.S. student. Halls become congested and lockers slam, while in the background a chatter of voices fill the air with a blithe atmosphere. As classes begin, the hustling ceases and the voices dwindle to a whisper. Silence hovers over our last day as we review the past and persue the future . . . "Pomp and Circumstance" signals our departure.

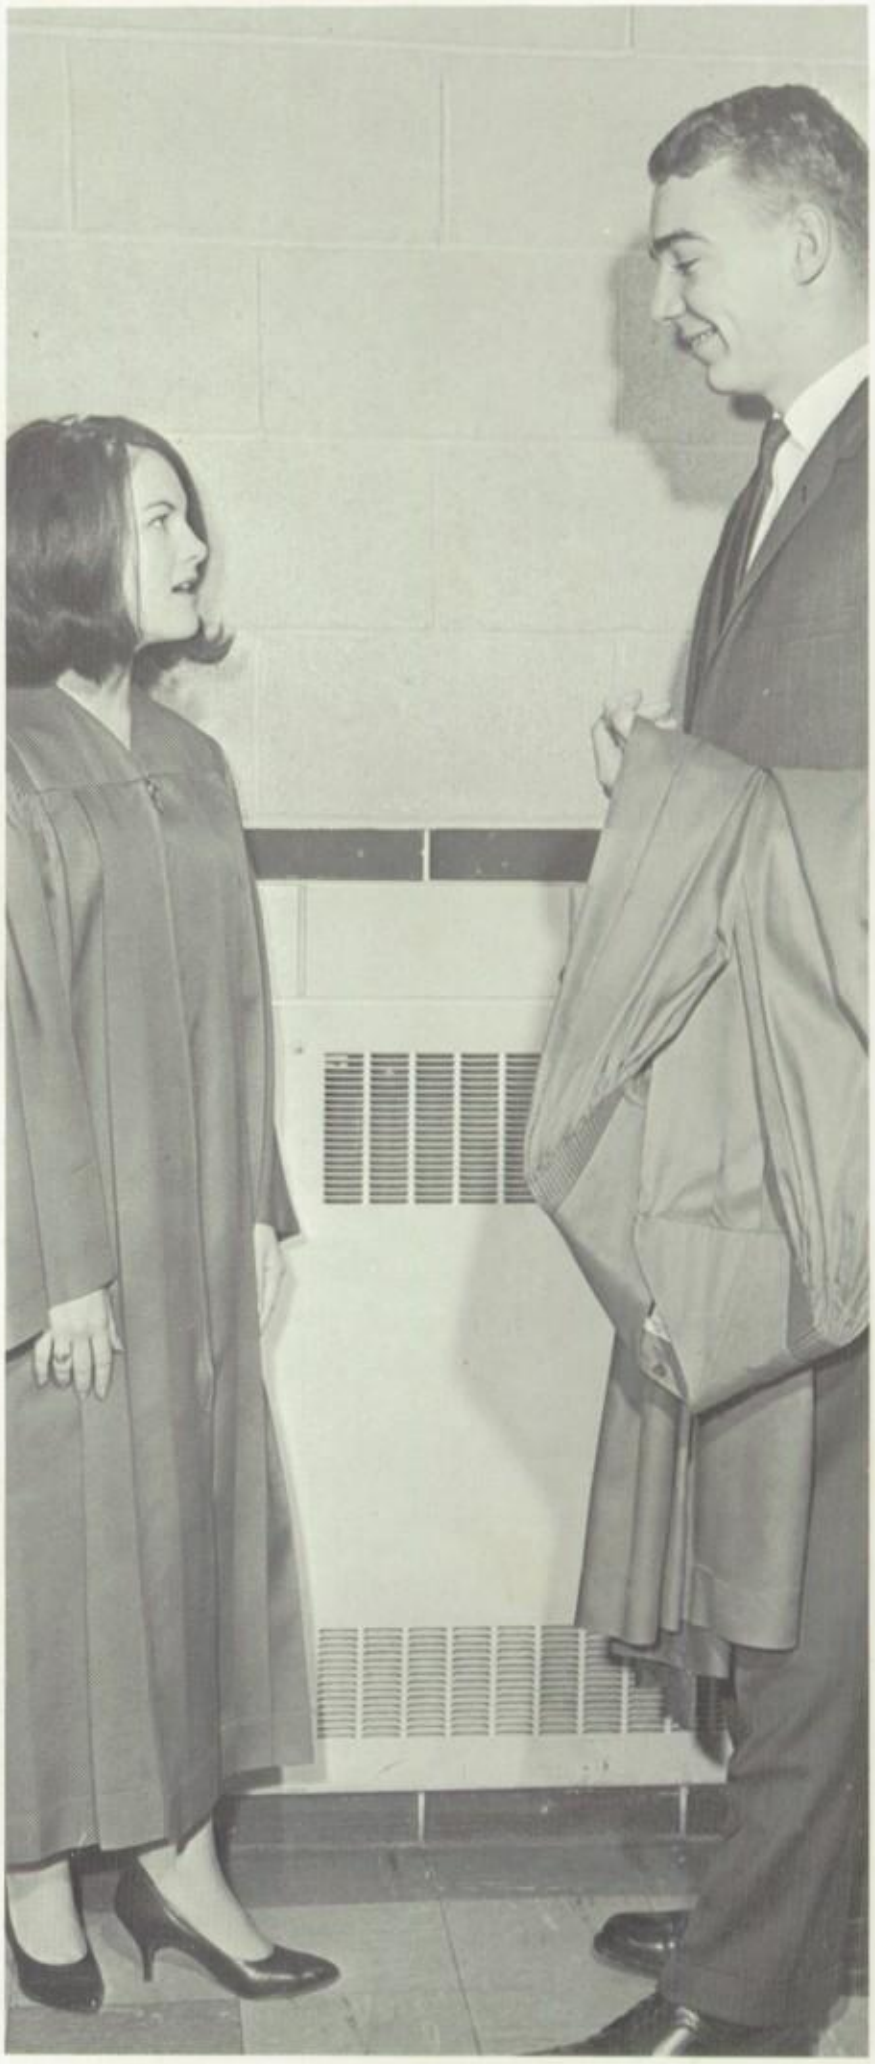
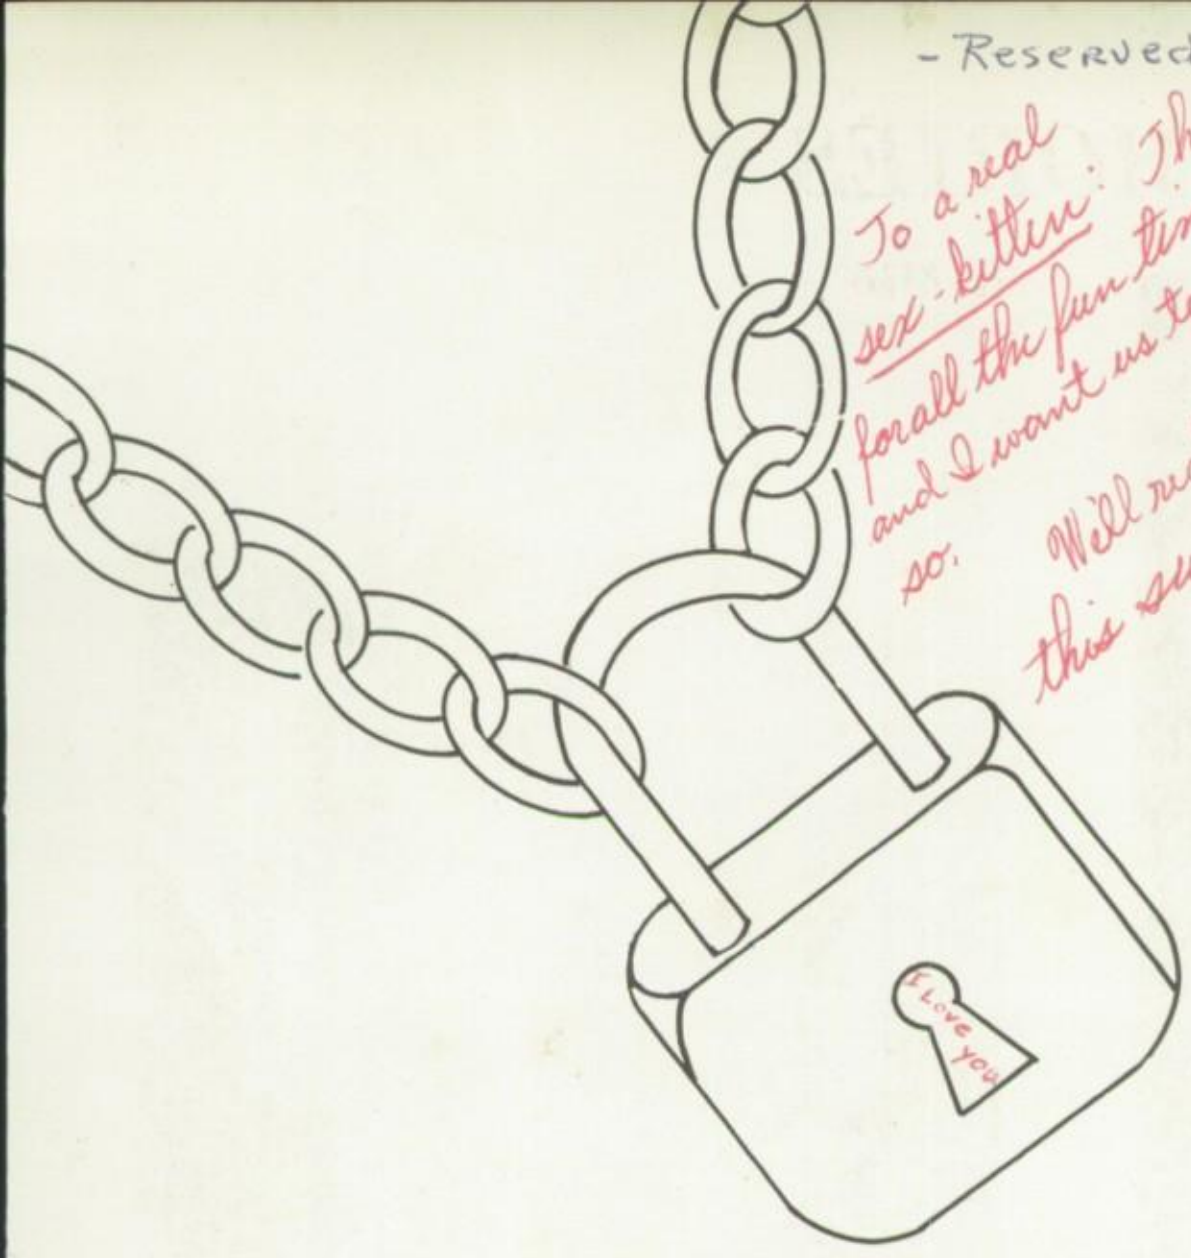
MEMORIES

Seniors Jackie Dellinger and Jean Alex cast a glance of determination into the future.



Graduating seniors, Keith Cornwell and Becky Joyce recall many remembrances which cannot be erased.



- Reserved -

To a real sex-kitten: Thanks for all the fun times I've had; and I want us to continue to do so. We'll really have to live it up this summer.

Love always
Steve

P.S. You watch yourself Miss Lifeguard.
P.S.S Don't look in the keyhole-

I have been your gleaming link to progress. Time has passed by quickly. Through the years I have watched you grow and develop in mind, spirit and body. I have been your guardian in learning, your workman in research, and your guide to technology.

You leave many never-to-be-forgotten memories and friends. Opportunities are now approaching your doorstep. Your boundaries are unlimited. As I bid farewell to you, the Class of '67, I wish you many prosperous and happy years.

Alice,
One of the most wonderful girls I have ever known. We've been so close this year, telling each other all our problems, & I just hope next year we don't have as many to tell! (I'm sure you do too!) I'll always be

So Alice—

We've had a lot of fun together this year and I'm sure we're in for a lot more. Never forget all the cool times we've had in chemistry... like when the acid ate the whole in the paper towel... the time you put the chemical in the wrong bottle... and the cleaning solution. Love ya Barb

Alice,

To a real nice girl, I don't care what "anyone" says! I really don't know you too well, not a well as I use to, but I see you enough to know you're still as cool as you ever were.

Good luck in the future, and with that special boy, who ever he is. Remember me always.

Luv Ya!
Pam

Alice,

Well our high school days are almost over and I can't say I'll miss it. We've had loads of fun in "history" with Bowers the B-------. I don't know how we'll ever last next year without his "smiling" face.

Stay as neat as you are and you & Steve will always together.

Be good but have fun too!

Donna Jo

To Alice,
a girl with personality plus, a big heart, and good looks & brains, too. I hope we'll always be really good friends!

Love Ya,
Jinny

To Alice:

A real sweet kid and a good-looking one too. You and Steve make a darling couple, & hope your dreams come true. May God bless you both in all you do and may success knock at your door. Your a good friend and I hope our friendship extends on into the future even after our years at O.H.S are over. Be good and keep smiling. I'd be careful about parking on a motorcycle and kissing someone that drinks cleaning fluid! H.H.

Alice
A real good friend & mine for a long time. Sure we had some real times together and some tough times. I wish I could be here next year. Please come to dessary pow-wow.
I hope you find the happiness you deserve.
It's around somewhere.
Good luck all through life and watch Steve.
Love
Jinny
"68"

Alice,

Is a cool girl who I think I've known for a long time. I hope you always have the best of luck in your life and then on. "Plan the future - you can make it happen." Sorry about the sloppy handwriting, I think I'm nervous. Good luck with all of your activities, and I hope everything goes right with you. Steve.

Be Good & Have Fun

Steve
